Why Choose a HR Advice Service

Whether you have one employee or a workforce of hundreds, you want to be sure you are fulfilling your obligations as an employer. As Legislation changes you need to ensure your contracts of employment, policies and procedures remain up to date. Remove some of the worry associated with keeping pace with an ever changing area of the law.

- Fulfil your legal obligations as an employer & safeguard your business
- Peace of mind – Regulated and accredited advice when you need it
- Saving you money – It's likely to be far cheaper than instructing a solicitor on an ad hoc basis

What Are The Costs

Depending on the size of your workforce, costs start from the equivalent of only £1.97 plus VAT per day, which offers exceptional value for money, as follows: -
Price per month, ex VAT

0 - 10 Staff - £75
21 - 50 Staff - £150
100 - 200 Staff - £250

What The Service Doesn't Cover

Apart from standard routine documents, the service will not include: -

- Matters involving a business takeover
- Large redundancy programmes, involving collective consultation
- Advice regarding a claim that has been issued against you in Employment Tribunals

Charges for advice on the above matters, and for representation in Employment Tribunal claims, would be at our usual hourly rates and/or fixed fee and agreed with you in advance, in accordance with our Clear Price Guarantee.

Employment Protection Insurance

To assist you, we can also provide Employment Protection Insurance if required. The policy is intended to pay our fees for ET representation. Please note, it is a condition of your insurance policy that you obtain advice through the HR Advice Service prior to: -

- Taking any action against an employee, which could lead to dismissal, disciplinary action, or selection for redundancy
- Accepting an employee's resignation
- Changing an employee's terms and conditions of employment

If you choose to purchase cover, we will write to you separately, and in more detail, about the interaction between the HR Advice Service and Insurance Policy.
